“As you know, every book has a look before it's published, and this is my way of letting you know what will be in the next one. It will totally be on the girl I met on 27/11. Yes, I've launched the first part of this book before but it was only a small part of what I told you in that book. This second part will show you the main version of what she is and what she means to me”.

We are both aware of the amount of writing I have done for and about you since our first meeting till yesterday. You may wonder why I write so much for you all the time, and you may have many questions.

QUESTIONS to be cleared before:

Why am I doing all of this for you?

Why am I doing this for you alone?

Why am I always so into you?

Why can't I stop staring at you the way I always look?

Why am I only so obsessed with you?

(It's true that you may have questions about any of these, and you should know my answers to all of them so you can feel confident that, no matter what, this guy is always going to be the best choice for you because of the way he treats me, thinks of me, and looks out for me).

ANSWER for Every Questions:

"YOU" are the reason for all of this.

The word itself conveys all. Everything just begins with you and finishes with you. You have something inside of you that most girls don't, and if they have, they don't hold onto it or respect it the same way you do, the ability to just make a guy feel like he is all yours and inspire confidence in him. When a guy becomes yours, you give him an endless life.

What motivates ME now that you're in his life.

He has all he could possibly want, the freedom to pursue his passions, the things he was truly born to do, all kind of support he needs.

Going to bifurcate her in two kind of beauty she got:

YOUR INNER BEAUTY:

He feels like a whole person whenever he sees you. Every time he is with you or is really there with you, he just feels at home. You make me feel so amazing because of how complete you are for me; you don't want to share yourself with anyone else, you simply want to be for me always, and that makes me feel more than enough. You stay the same as I stay with you, you don't consider doing the things I dislike because you don't enjoy that kind of thing yourself. Because we are identical to one another, we always enjoy doing the same activities when we get together or travel somewhere.

One more best qualities you got in yourself that most of the girls don't seems to have these days is that You always put me before yourself, you always think of me before yourself, you always keep me in that position where you think I will be good enough, and you protect me from bad things whatever they may be, whether they be people or any related problems in my life. You also love to do more for me than for yourself, you live for me first rather than yourself, and you want to build my career alongside yourself. You just never make me feel like you think of myself more than yourself . You seem to love less yourself than myself.

So, when I stayed with you, I found a lot of the mood you've got, and I'm used to all the mood you've got. Yes, I'm allowed to stay with any kind of mood that you have, whether it's a crazy mood or a sad mood or a happy mood or a crying baby mood. All those moods are my own and belong to me as well. So whatever things you come across I am sure that I am going to stay beside you always, because beside all this mood you have got the best thing in yourself is that You make me feel like your own Baby Boy. You never stop treating me like my mother treat me always. You're going to look after me at this level, where no one can get there beside my parents. You're always behind, keeping that smile on my face. The way you're always questioning for my answers to God, it makes me think I have something that nobody else in the world can get. Seriously You're at par.

You always take care of me like my family did since I was born, give me what I want, you never make me feel like I can't get what I want in life. You just make my life so easy, fixable, best and happy to live your way when you are in my life. You always cook for me such good food that I just feel like to have it every day, yes, I can eat the same dal chawal endlessly. You make me feel so good when you're by my side. Our moods are always suitable for doing something interesting or looking for something that might be good enough for both of us.

All because of this I feel like you are my best home that I love to reach each time whenever I am so much in stress, so much tired, or want to share so many things, or just want peace in my life, to enjoy best moment of my life, to be in good way always, or just want to be myself.

YOUR OUTER BEAUTY:

YES YES YES!!! You got the best beauty from outside the way you got it from inside. You just look so simple, best, cute and beautiful enough that I always feel like making love and romance with you. You've got that glow in you, and when you're next to me, it shines on my whole body. Your smile just awakens the surrounding, making you feel fresh and good after that. The way you always dress, the way you look in all your clothes, constantly makes me stare without blinking or distraction. It just makes me feel like looking at beauty got it all day. Whatever you are, you are so perfect. The hair you always have pulls me to smell you always. It smells so good that I never stop looking and smelling them. The way you look at things makes me feel like I'm always watching myself in those beautiful eyes, because they're the best in the world. I'm falling in love because those eyes have such respect for me, so much love and great dreams of mine. The lips you have bring me closer again and again and then always make me stay over there with the lips I have.

LOVE THE WAY YOU ARE.
